Douglas J. Bohn
Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs,
Registrar, Sacred Heart University

Douglas Bohn is a pioneer Pioneer. When he arrived on campus in September 1964, Sacred Heart University was entering its second year, and people at his motel in Fairfield had never even heard the name. Doug began his career as an instructor of Mathematics.

A bachelor's and master's graduate of Marquette University in his native Wisconsin, he came to Sacred Heart almost by accident. While asking his mentor about possible teaching positions, Professor John Maher, who was heading to Sacred Heart to head up the new History Department, overheard him—and invited him to consider a move east. It was a perfect fit.

In his first years at the University, he taught every single student here. He retains the rank of a tenured professor and recalls fondly the students from his early years who say he helped them get through the ordeal of college math. After seven years teaching, Mr. Bohn succeeded Dean John Croffy in the Registrar's Office. As such, he has shepherded every student through the graduation process since then. Professor Bohn pursued doctoral-level studies at New York University, in math, and at the University of Connecticut, in educational administration. But a growing family and the press of duties at Sacred Heart made it impossible for him to complete those programs.

While he enjoyed the classroom, he has been quite happy to help lead Sacred Heart as Registrar and the Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs. His first year at Sacred Heart saw the faculty increase by 23 members, and the enrollment jump from 175 to 835. Over more than four decades, he has witnessed enormous change, but he takes great satisfaction in seeing today's mature community of learners buoyed and sustained by a robust Catholic mission. After all these years, if Doug Bohn thinks of Sacred Heart as an extended family, it's quite understandable. He met his wife Carole here, who was secretary to the University's president. They are the parents of four children: Cheryl, Stewart, Holly and James—and Holly and James are graduates of Sacred Heart.

Douglas Bohn is stepping down from his long-term responsibilities on July 1, but he will continue to assist the University in the Office of Institutional Research. His many friends wish him long and happy years and thank him for his great service to our community.

Vincent K. McMahon

Chairman of the Board, World Wrestling Entertainment, Inc.

Vincent Kennedy McMahon is one of the most recognizable and accomplished business leaders in America. As Chairman of the Board of World Wrestling Entertainment, he has made WWE into a truly global phenomenon. As a pioneer in television syndication, a high profile media personality throughout the world, and by all accounts, a marketing superstar, he continues to make his presence known as a leader within the broadcast and entertainment industries.

The graduate of a Virginia military academy and of East Carolina University, with a degree in business and marketing, Vince McMahon joined his father's company, Capitol Wrestling Corporation, in 1972. Within seven years, the company had syndicated programming to 30 television stations. In 1982, he purchased Capitol Wrestling from his father and began to turn this regional operation into a national venture. Mr. McMahon became a pioneer in the cable television industry by leveraging the new technologies of pay-per-view and closed-circuit television for the first WrestleMania. In so doing, he built the WWE into a strong and far-reaching brand.

Nearly six million households purchased WWE pay-per-view events last year, placing the company among the largest such programming providers in the world. Today, it produces new television programming 52 weeks a year that can be seen in 130 countries and heard in 19 languages.

As the television audience has grown exponentially, so has the live event audience. In 2006, WWE performed 346 live events, including 61 international events, entertaining more than two million fans. The company continues to grow and now trades on the New York Stock Exchange. WWE has started WWE Films, which will produce and fully finance two to four motion pictures a year, and is making inroads into digital media platforms with new video-on-demand, broadband and mobile services.

In recognition of WWE's work to support children over the past 20 years, Vince was appointed, in 2005, to the Make-A-Wish Foundation of America National Advisory Council. WWE's Get REAL program brings wrestling superstars to school children across the country to promote Respect, Education, Achievement and Leadership. He is a tireless supporter of the U.S. military: the WWE was the recipient of the USO of Metropolitan Washington's first-ever "Legacy of Hope" award for its extensive support of our troops and the USO's Operation Care Package program, and in 2007, WWE received the Secretary of Defense Exceptional Public Service Award for its support of deployed service members in Iraq and Afghanistan, where Vince has traveled and spoken. And WWE supports America at home in other ways; through such highly regarded initiatives as SmackDown Your Vote, that encourages young Americans to participate in their democracy and become informed voters.

When Vince and Linda McMahon were married more than 40 years ago, he promised, "I will always love you—there will never be a dull moment!" "Vince has fulfilled both those promises," says Linda. The couple has two children, Shane and Stephanie, who play prominent roles in the company. Together, this "power couple"—she is CEO of World Wrestling Entertainment—has taken America by storm. They have transformed the way we are entertained and, more subtly, provided powerful and generous assistance to Americans young and old.

University History

The Seal

The official seal of Sacred Heart University was introduced on July 22, 1963. It was designed by Frank Sullivan, an art teacher in New Jersey. Sullivan had been commissioned to design the seal by his friend, Dr. Maurice J. O'Sullivan, Sacred Heart University's first academic dean. The original pen and ink hangs in the diocesan museum at The Catholic Center in Bridgeport.

The original seal consists of a shield, a surrounding wreath of hearts and flowers, and the inscription "Universitas Sacri Cordis" in large letters on the outside of the seal and "Dioecesis Bridgeportensis, 1963" on the inner circle.

The shield consists of a dexter — the right-hand side of a shield (the left as seen by the viewer) — and a sinister, the left-hand side of a shield. The dexter impalement bears the jurisdictional arms of the Diocese of Bridgeport. The bridge above waves of flowing water affords an apt expression of the name of the diocese that encompasses Fairfield County, Connecticut, where Sacred Heart University is located. The bridge represents service, which forges strong bonds of understanding and unity between diverse constituencies, while the vivifying water symbolizes the "port" by which new knowledge and ideas energize the scholars who commit themselves to the disciplines of academic inquiry. The Cross of Our Faith above the bridge dignifies the other symbols and identifies the University as a community that celebrates the richness of the Catholic intellectual tradition.

The sinister impalement displays the personal coat of arms of the Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, S.T.D., the founder of Sacred Heart University and the second Bishop of the Diocese of Bridgeport. The central checkered bar, taken from the Curtis family coat of arms, suggests the collaborative nature of the learning community in which each individual member contributes to the integrity of the whole. The two diamond-shaped lozenges, taken from the Costello family shield to honor the Bishop's mother, are placed in the upper portion to highlight the University's two most precious treasures: Love, the compassion of God as symbolized in the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and Truth, the goal of all scholarly activity. The University shield also honors Mary, the Seat of Wisdom, by including the crescent moon, which is the symbol of Our Lady under the title of the Immaculate Conception, chosen to signify the years that Bishop Curtis spent as a professor of moral theology at Immaculate Conception Seminary.

The Name

Sacred Heart University was founded in 1963 by the Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, S.T.D., the second Bishop of the Diocese of Bridgeport, to provide an institution of higher education that would serve the needs of the people of the diocese and region, regardless of their sex, race, creed or religion.

In October 1962, Bishop Curtis announced both the plan to open a college the following September, and its name, "Sacred Heart." The choice of name had a dual origin: it was the name of the Bishop's first pastorate in Bloomfield, N.J., and was a pledge from the Bishop attesting to the value of such an institution.

The Mission

Sacred Heart University is a coeducational, independent, comprehensive institution of higher learning in the Catholic intellectual tradition whose primary objective is to prepare men and women to live in and make their contributions to the human community.

The University aims to assist in the development of people who are knowledgeable of self, rooted in faith, educated in mind, compassionate in heart, responsive to social and civic obligations, and able to respond to an ever-changing world. It does this by calling forth the intellectual potential of its students, nurturing each one's spiritual and moral growth, and deepening in them a sense of social responsibility. The University is committed to combining education for life with preparation for professional excellence.

Sacred Heart University is Catholic in tradition and spirit. As a Catholic university, it seeks to play its appropriate role in the modern world. It exemplifies in its life the Judeo-Christian values of the God-given freedom and dignity of every human person. Inspired by the ecumenical spirit of the Second Vatican Council, Sacred Heart University welcomes men and women of all religious traditions and beliefs who share its concerns for truth, scholarship, the dignity of the human person, freedom, and the betterment of human society. It values religious diversity as enhancing the University community and creating opportunities for dialogue in the common search for truth. Through its curricular and co-curricular activities and campus ministry programs, the University provides the context in which students have the opportunity to appropriate in a critical fashion their own religious traditions.

Sacred Heart University challenges its students to think critically, analyze carefully, evaluate with a sense of justice and proportion, and convey conclusions in an intelligible and articulate fashion. The University provides the environment in which its students can develop the aesthetic dimension of life by nurturing their abilities to imagine, create and appreciate. It assists students to acquire a rich understanding of their own cultural and family heritages so as to assume their responsibilities as conveyors and creators of culture and family.

As a community of teachers and scholars, Sacred Heart University exists for the pursuit of truth. It joins with other colleges and universities in the task of expanding human knowledge and deepening human understanding. It encourages and supports the scholarly and artistic work of its faculty and students. Further, it has a responsibility to share its resources and its special gifts and talents for the betterment of the human community. All members of the University community are strongly encouraged to participate in the wider community through service to others, especially the poor.

From its founding, the University has been recognized for its caring approach to students. This approach expresses the University's belief that each student is born with a unique set of qualities and skills. It respects the personal and academic freedom of each of its members while at the same time fostering a genuine experience of community. By so doing, it creates the environment in which each person in the University shares in common goals and a common commitment to truth, justice and concern for others.

The Mace

During the Middle Ages, the wood mace clad in metal was an effective weapon in battle, but as newer and more powerful military arms developed, it was transformed into a symbol of dignity and authority.

The earliest ceremonial maces were borne by bodyguards of 12th century English and French kings; by the end of the 16th century, they were used widely by officials of English cities and towns. Today, the use of the ceremonial mace is found in the British House of Parliament, carried before ecclesiastical dignitaries and in university and college commencements and convocations.

The Sacred Heart University Mace traditionally is carried by the senior tenured faculty member and represents the President's responsibility as the chief academic and administrative officer of the University. Commissioned by President Anthony J. Cernera, Ph.D., to mark the University's 25th commencement, the mace is made of rosewood, mahogany, walnut and bronze.

Academic Dress

Tradition holds that the cap and gown were first used in ancient Greece when only youths of wealthy parents or those with patrons attended school. The wise teachers of the time believed that fine clothing and jewels should not be worn by the scholar but rather, that the scholar should wear the garments of the worker.

In the United States, the gown commonly worn for both the associate's and bachelor's degrees has pointed sleeves (with a slit for the arm). It is designed to be worn closed. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The gown for the doctoral degree has bell-shaped open sleeves. All gowns are black and without trimming with the exception of the doctoral gown, which normally is trimmed with velvet, has three bars or chevrons on the sleeves and may be in distinctive color(s) governed by the school granting that degree. The master's and doctoral gowns may be worn open.

Upon graduation, students of old carried a mortarboard showing them to be masons of the future destined to build empires or cities or fountains of wisdom on the firm foundation of knowledge. To this day, graduates wear mortarboard caps and gowns, symbolizing that they are builders of the future.

The history of the hood, with which degree recipients are invested, dates back to 13th century England. Whether its origin is ecclesiastical or secular has never been settled. Hoods are two-and-one-half feet long for the associate's, three feet for the bachelor's, three-and-one-half feet for the master's and four feet for the doctor's degree. The hood is lined with the colors of the institution — red and white, in the case of Sacred Heart University. The color of the trim indicates the academic degree — white for arts, letters and humanities (B.A.), golden yellow for science (B.S.).

The hoods of those with graduate degrees, as well as the tassels on the mortarboards of the undergraduates, are often in the color associated with the academic field of specialization, as follows:
